PUDO Selected a Top 20 Company by the Canadian Innovation Exchange

PUDO's CEO to present at the CIX Public Investor Day on November 18, 2015

TORONTO, Ontario, November 17, 2015 – PUDO Inc., (“PUDO” or “the Company”) (CSE: PDO) North America’s first customizable parcel pick-up and drop-off service, today announced that it has been selected as one of Canada’s top 20 most innovative public technology companies by the Canadian Innovation Exchange.

“We are honoured to have been chosen as one of Canada’s top innovative technology companies for 2015,” commented Frank Coccia, Chief Executive Officer. “We have built an extensive network across North America, called PUDO Points™, that enable consumers to customize the delivery and returns of their e-commerce shipments, at convenient neighbourhood locations to fit their busy schedules,” Mr. Coccia continued.

The award was based on criteria that focused on a public company’s level of innovation, including product or service offering, depth of management, market opportunity, and business model. Only 20 companies were chosen from hundreds of Canadian small and midcap technology companies.

PUDO currently has over 2,200 PUDO Point™ dealer locations across Canada underway and more than 3,000 locations in the United States signed up to become operational in 2015 and 2016. For these local PUDO Point™ locations, PUDO provides opportunities for additional foot traffic and the potential for repeat customer business. PUDO has also created affiliate agreements with some of North America’s most well-known retailers, including Amazon, eBay, Hudson’s Bay, and Walmart.
